

Directions for the Exam 2017

for students

The end-module exam for Microeconomics will take place on Friday, October 27th at 15:10.

Room	Groups
K9	ST161, BEK163, BEK164, BEK166, BEK169
K10	BEK1610, ST163, ST164
5306	BEK167, BEK168
5307	BEK165, ST162

Students who take the exam at K9 or K10 must leave one empty seat between them. Start sitting from the corner seats to maximize the capacity of the room. If you are taking the exam at rooms 5306, 5307 you must sit one person per desk. Desks should be placed at a distance from each-other creating corridors between them, so proctors can have access to every desk. Students must be aligned precisely one behind the other.

At 15:10 everyone must be seated and be ready to start writing. The proctors have clear instructions to decline to distribute a paper to anyone who is not quietly seated by that time. I expect that you will come to the exam room a bit earlier to settle in.

On your desk you must have 2 (blue or black) pens, a (non-programmable) calculator and your student ID. Absolutely nothing else (no bags, jackets, pen purses etc.). Proctors must make sure for this before they start distributing papers.

Before you take your seat, make sure that you do not have on you or in your immediate reach a phone, any other communication device, or any written or printed materials unauthorized by the examiner. If you are caught to have any of those, your paper will be removed independently of the function or use of those devices or materials.

Anyone who will talk or whisper or signal anything to any other student during the exam will have their paper removed immediately with no warning or explanation. If anyone is caught cheating, I will personally make sure that their career as an HSE-student is terminated once and for all.

If you have a question during the exam, raise your hand and wait. A proctor will see you and come to you. You may ask for clarification or translation of words as long as it is not terminology which you are supposed to know.

The exam will be identical in format to the previous year (see archive on website). There will be 2 different versions of the exam so that adjacent students will have entirely different questions. For every version there will be 4 pages with short essay questions or problems that were asked and answered in the lecture, homework or labs. You will have 120 minutes to complete the exam. Examined material corresponds to lectures 1 – 14.

Your answers must be short and up to the point. Answer only what you are asked. Do not waste time by writing redundant information.

Once grading is over you will pick up your papers from the class teacher in one of the next labs.
