

Exam instructions

for students, proctors and graders

Information for students

The end-module exam for Microeconomics will take place on Wednesday, October 24 at 10:30.

Room	Groups
K9	BST171, BST172, BEK177, BEK179, BEK1710.
K10	BEK174, BEK175, BEK1711, BST173.
5306	BEK173, BEK176.
3316	BST174, BEK178.
3317	BEK1712.

Students who take the exam at K9 or K10 must leave one empty seat between them. Start sitting from the corner seats to maximize the capacity of the room.

Students who take the exam at the smaller rooms must sit one person per desk. In those rooms desks should be placed at a distance from each-other creating corridors between them so proctors can have access to every desk. Students must be aligned precisely one behind the other.

On your desk you must have:

- 2 blue or black pens – no other colors, this is not an art class!
- A simple calculator
- Your student ID.
- A bottled drink (preferably non-alcoholic)
- Absolutely nothing else (no bags, jackets, purses etc.).

If we catch anyone cheating or talking, this person will be in very big trouble and play the prisoner's dilemma with me.

This time there will be ABSOLUTELY NO QUESTIONS BY STUDENTS. Tasks will be clear and in as simple English as possible.

You will have 120 min for 4 pages of questions. Exam will be very similar in format to the last year's exam or the test.

Examined material corresponds to lectures 1 – 14, all classes, all practice sets and all homework assignments.

Once grading is over you will pick up your papers from the class teacher in one of the next labs.

Information for the proctors

You are not authorized to answer any questions to any of the students for any reason. Once students start writing, your only job will be to monitor for cheating.

Do not all stay at the front of the room. Scatter around and keep an eye on your area.

Information for the graders

Same as in the test.
